

Challenge Identification

To prevent corrosion with predictive monitoring and coastal anti-environment technologies

Area

Infrastructure and Services

Problem Description

Closeness to the coastal environment accelerates corrosion in assets, generating structural failures and high maintenance costs. The challenge lies in applying electrochemical monitoring, advanced coatings and degradation prediction.

To anticipate corrosion degradation, extending the useful life of assets and reducing maintenance costs

To change the strategy