

Challenge Identification

Backwards electrical compatibility of shovels and electrical substations

Area

Infrastructure and Services

Problem Description

There are different types of electric shovels with different electrical specifications. We currently have a loss of availability due to combinations of individual voltages, capacities or powers.

To minimize times and improve the use of shovels due to electrical conditions

To eliminate bottlenecks